

HOW TO SHARE INFORMATION WITH STAKEHOLDERS

Organisations should share information on their governance, structure, activities and financial position to enable members and stakeholders to have a good understanding of them. This is also attractive to potential partners and investors.

The easiest way to share information to stakeholders is by publishing it on the organisation's website but other methods such as email circulars and newsletters can also be used.