- Racing 92 and Toulouse have never met in European competition before, however, this is the fourth season in a row there has been an all-TOP 14 clash at the quarter-final stage.
- This will be Racing's fourth appearance in the knockout stage, winning their previous two such games against French opposition (2016 v RC Toulon and 2018 v Clermont) but losing against Saracens in 2015.
- Four-time champions, Toulouse, are appearing in a 16th quarter-final match, and only Munster (18 including this season) have reached the last eight more often.
- Toulouse have lost their last three quarter-finals, but conversely have won all four of their games at this stage against TOP 14 opposition.
- Racing, who were defeated finalists in 2016 and last season, averaged more metres (543) and clean breaks (13) per game than any other side in the pool stage this season.
- Racing (28/28) and Toulouse (29/29) were the only two sides to maintain a 100% scrum success rate during the pool stage.
- Toulouse made a total of 90 offloads, 10 more than anyone else with Racing in second with 80 during the pool stage.
- Only two players (Edinburgh's Viliame Mata and CJ Stander of Munster) made more carries than Racing's Antonie Claassen (86) during the pool stage.
- Sofiane Guitoune was one of just nine players to play every minute (480) of the pool stage this season, crossing for four tries in the six games.
- Cheslin Kolbe beat more defenders (41) than any other player during the pool stage.
