ABOUT MINSK

Minsk is the capital of the Republic of Belarus, its industrial, scientific and cultural centre. Minsk population is about 2 million people.

Minsk is mentioned in script the first time in about year 1067. A big part of Minsk was destroyed in the Second World War and was rebuilt during the Soviet time.

The face of Minsk is modern and young. The city amazes visitors with cleanliness and accuracy, with the abundance of the green streets and squares. You can enjoy exceptional restaurants, world-class bars, clubs to rival those in any major city around the world and a cultural life offering everything from theatre and opera to traditional dance.

But the main sight of the city is the friendliness and hospitality of its citizens. It is always desirable to come back to Minsk again to feel its romanticism and spontaneity.

HOW TO ARRIVE

Minsk National Airport is the main gateway to the Republic of Belarus. It is situated 42 kilometers from Minsk.

VISA

Belarus has visa free regime for guests who arrive in Minsk by plane via Minsk National Airport for the period not exceeding 5 days.

If you are planning to spend in Minsk more than 5 days or you arrive in Minsk by train or car you should have visa.

Please contact the Organising Committee for more information.
