

International Rowing Coach in Southern Germany

Interested to make another step in your coaching career?

Traditional and successful rowing club in southern Germany with several Olympic medalists in history seeks for its training center a dynamic international coach. Main focus is the development of Junior and U23 rowers to international level. This will be a lead position for a state training center and requires planning, organization and cooperation with club coaches and regional other clubs and coaches and with the national coaches.

There is already a dedicated team of coaches (3 professional positions) in the club. The boat house facilities are excellent. The rowing water on a clear stream is quiet in beautiful surroundings. Cooperation with schools and universities are existing and have to be strengthened. Close connection to university research institute.

The candidate should have a bachelor or master degree in sports science or adequate education and experience; at least five years of professional experience in coaching and leading bigger teams. Management experience, structured work style, knowledge of communication techniques and analytical skills are required. Strong English in writing and verbal communication, German is an asset, within one year German should be learned.

The town is midsized with excellent life quality (within top10 in Germany), excellent school system, one international school, full cultural life and great sport surroundings close to the Alpen Mountains. Easy connections to Munich and Stuttgart and their airports.

Salary and support are adequate.

Interested?

For first information contact:

Dr. Jürgen Steinacker from FISA's Sports Medicine Commission at: juergen.steinacker@uni-ulm.de