RACICE, CZECH REPUBLIC 26 - 28 MAY 2017

FISA 125th Anniversary

This year marks the 125th anniversary of FISA, the World Rowing Federation.

© Comite International Olympique (CIO) 1932 Olympic Games

“As a federation we lead the way in anti-doping, gender equality and take pride in the absolute transparency of our organisation”

Jean-Christophe Rolland, FISA President, Olympic Champion rower, avid indoor rower and one of the youngest sports federation presidents.

Originally known as Federation Internationale des Societies d’Aviron, FISA was the first international sports federation. It was created in 1892, inspired by the growth of rowing that was occurring in the second half of the 19th century.

Led by the Belgian rowing federation, there was the conviction that a uniform set of rules were needed for the sport. At that stage the rules of racing varied from club to club, race distances and the type of racing varied, rowers could use any type of boat and betting was rife.

The first European Rowing Championships were staged in 1893 and rules regulating the sport of rowing began to be established. Now, 125 years later, rowing remains one of the most important Olympic sports with wide appeal. Rowing has transformed the lives of countless individuals from all five continents far transcending the sport itself. The words are true, ‘Rowing is for life.’

What has FISA done?

- Worldwide growth of member nations from five to 151.
- Made 2000m the standard distance.
- A straight buoyed course is now the norm.
- Rowing equipment and boats follow a standard for all.
- International rowing events are held every year including the World Rowing Cup series and World Championships for seniors, under-23s and juniors. There is also the World Rowing Masters Regatta, World Rowing Coastal Championships and World Rowing Tour.
- Led the way in anti-doping measures with out-of-competition testing, no needles policy and Athlete commitment form.
- Put the athlete first and at the centre of every decision. This has included pre-competition health screening.
- Established a powerful set of values in the world of sport – teamwork, fairness, enduring, inclusive and natural.
- Integrated with para-rowing, masters, indoor, coastal and age-group rowing.
- Actively joined the movement for Clean Water and partnered with WWF.

Our planet depends on clean water

One of the greatest challenges of our time is to ensure there is enough clean water to support human life, nourish vital habitats and supply industry and agriculture. World Rowing believes that we all have a responsibility to apply environmentally-sustainable practices to our use and management of water. Rowing is a clean water sport and everyone involved in rowing has reason to protect this vital resource.

World Rowing and the Worldwide Fund for Nature (WWF) work together in a global clean water partnership. This engages all rowers, national federations and all rowing clubs to work towards safeguarding their own freshwater environment. A joint action project, the Kafue River & Rowing Centre is a manifestation of this partnership. This project was inspired by the confluence of so many pressures and problems in the Kafue River in Zambia and the need to bring all stakeholders together to discuss and help find solutions.

The development of a multi-purpose facility for water management education and research and the advancement of rowing in the region is underway. The global rowing community is at the forefront of a fundraising campaign for the Centre and a group of high-profile rowers are ambassadors for the cause. Because to help Kafue is to help the world.

1 General

1.1 Introduction

Founded in 1892, this year marks the 125th anniversary of FISA, the World Rowing Federation. The European Rowing Championships was the first international regatta organised by FISA after its foundation and it is one of the oldest pan-continental sporting events. First staged in Orta, Italy in 1893, the continental championships were then organised almost annually until 1973.

Then in 2007, the European regatta was reintroduced into the international rowing calendar.

This year, the European Rowing Championships will be held in Racice, Czech Republic, located just 60km from Prague, the Czech capital city. The Racice venue, completed in 1986, has hosted a large number of international rowing and canoe events in recent years, including most recently the European Rowing Junior Championships in 2015.

The European Rowing Championships are open to the 46 European national rowing federations, including Israel. The programme consists of the 14 Olympic boat classes plus four International boat classes (lightweight men's and women's single sculls, lightweight men's pair and women's four).

In 2016, 34 nations took part with more than 500 athletes. Of those nations, 23 made it to the medals podium. Great Britain topped the rankings in terms of number of gold medals won (four of seven medals). Germany took ten medals, of which three were gold. Croatia came third with two gold medals.

A number of crews have won a series of gold medals at the European level in recent years. These include France's lightweight men's double sculls of Jeremie Azou who claimed gold with Stany Delayre in 2013, 2014 and 2015 and in 2016 with new partner Pierre Houin. Germany's men's eight were crowned European Champions annually over the past four years while Great Britain's flagship men's four has systematically claimed European gold over the past three years.

The European Rowing Championships are monitored and managed by the European Rowing Management Board (ERMB). Their responsibilities have grown to include the European Rowing Junior Championships (held 20-21 May 2017 in Krefeld, Germany), the the European Rowing Indoor Championships (organised annually in January) and in 2017 the European Rowing Under 23 Championships will take place for the first time from 2-3 September 2017 in Kruszwica, Poland.

In 2018 the European Rowing Championships will join six other sports at the inaugural multi-sport European Championships which will be held every four years. In 2018, the European Rowing Championships will be raced at Strathclyde Country Park near Glasgow, Scotland, from 2-5 August, 2017.

To you, the media, we wish to extend a warm welcome to Racice. We appreciate your interest and enthusiasm in our sport and as the suppliers of rowing information to the world we want to help you have a great experience. World Rowing welcomes any feedback on the services provided as we endeavour to make your experience a positive one.

1.4 Current season summary

The 2017 international season opened with the first stage of the World Rowing Cup in Belgrade, Serbia in early May. This marked the beginning of a new Olympiad leading to the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games. Some athletes have retired and others are taking a year off, allowing new athletes and new combinations to make their appearance and show their potential on the world stage.

In Belgrade, Great Britain topped the medals table with four gold medals, three silvers and two bronzes from the Olympic boat classes. The 60 points they assembled placed them ahead of 17 other nations that won World Cup points in the Serbian capital city.

The British squad presented a number of new combinations following the Rio 2016 Olympic Rowing Regatta. The 2017 season is the first at senior level for both Jacob Dawson and Matthew Rossiter who took gold together in the men's pair. The British also won the women's pair with new-look crew of Karen Bennett and Holly Norton. Bennett was part of the British women's eight that won silver in Rio, while Norton won World Championship gold in the women's four in Rotterdam last year.

The Netherlands ranked second on the points table with 47 points. They sent a club boat in the men's eight and won against the World and Olympic Champions, Great Britain. The Dutch also claimed gold in the women's double sculls with Sophie Souwer and Inge Janssen. Janssen was part of the Netherlands women's quadruple sculls that earned Olympic silver in Rio. In Belgrade, she and Souwer also doubled up and won silver in the women's quadruple sculls.

Poland finished World Rowing Cup I with 36 points, placing third overall on the points table thanks in part to the gold medal they earned in the women's quadruple sculls. Two athletes (Agnieszka Kobus and Maria Springwald) medalled at the Rio Olympics. In Belgrade they were joined by 2016 world under-23 champions in the quad Marta Wieliczko and Katarzyna Zillmann.

Switzerland had a very successful World Cup regatta thanks to two gold medals and one silver. Nico Stahlberg finished ahead of Olympic silver medallist Damir Martin of Croatia to win gold in the men's single sculls. In the women's single sculls, Olympian Jeannine Gmelin also won gold. Barnabe Delarze and Roman Roeoesli left the men's quadruple sculls to form a men's double this year and together they took silver at the World Cup.

Lithuania proved its ongoing strength, earning two gold medals – one in the men's double sculls and another in the men's quadruple sculls. Mindaugas Griskonis and Saulius Ritter continue together in the double after winning Olympic silver in Rio last year, while the quad is nearly identical to the line-up that finished ninth at the 2016 Olympics.

The anticipated return to racing of the Irish brothers, Gary and Paul O'Donovan in the lightweight men's double sculls saw them dip just out of the medals, finishing fourth. Instead it was Great Britain's Peter Chambers and Will Fletcher taking gold with the Czech Republic and Poland winning the lesser medals.

About Racice

The rowing course in Racice was completed in 1986 and was built on a former sand quarry site. Prague, the Czech capital city, is only a 30-minute drive by motorway.

The course features a return channel from the finish to the start line, allowing for more fluent boat traffic, and a 5km road encircles the course. The overall site covers 73 hectares and features a newly constructed hotel as well as a restaurant, a fitness centre and conference facilities.

Currency

The official currency is the Czech Koruna (CZK).

2.4 Who to watch

Women's pair (W2-)

In the absence of two-time Olympic Champions Helen Glover and Heather Stanning, Great Britain sent a new line-up to World Rowing Cup I of Karen Bennett and Holly Norton. The duo did not disappoint and together they won gold. They will now be racing for the European title in Racice.

Keep an eye out for Hedvig Rasmussen of Denmark, the 2016 Olympic bronze medallist in the women's pair. She will be racing at the Europeans with a new teammate, Christina Johansen who has returned to international rowing after a break.

And do not discount the Romanians. Laura Oprea won Olympic bronze last year in the women's eight and will be teaming up in Racice with Beatrice-Madalina Parfenie, a Junior World Champion in the women's pair from 2014.

Men's pair (M2-)

Great Britain boated a new combination of Jacob Dawson and Matthew Rossiter earlier this month at World Rowing Cup I. Dawson and Rossiter won gold and will seek to continue to prove their worth at the European level.

The Czech combination of Jakub Podrazil and Lukas Helesic who placed seventh at the Rio Olympics last year and won bronze a few weeks ago at World Rowing Cup I are back and will be making the most of the home crowd. But look out for the arrival of Matteo Lodo and Giuseppe Vicino from Italy. These Italians were both part of the men's four that won Olympic bronze last year in Rio and will likely be a force to reckon with in Racice.

Lightweight men's double sculls (LM2x)

The top boats in the lightweight men's double sculls from World Rowing Cup I will be facing each other once again. Great Britain's Peter Chambers and Will Fletcher won gold. The silver medallists were Miroslav Vrstil and Jiri Simanek from Czech Republic and the bronze medallists were Poland's, Jerzy Kowalski and Milosz Jankowski.

The World Cup final saw the top four boats finish within one and a half seconds of each other with the 2016 Olympic silver medallists, Gary and Paul O'Donovan of Ireland in fourth. They will also be racing in Racice and as the reigning European Champions, expect them to be gunning for a medal.

But watch out for the return of the Olympic Champions. Jeremie Azou and Pierre Houin from France are racing. All eyes will be on them to assess their fitness level in this new Olympiad.

Lightweight women's double sculls (LW2x)

The gold and silver medallists from 2017 World Rowing Cup I were Poland and Great Britain respectively and they will be racing again in Racice. Poland's Weronika Deresz and Martyna Mikoajczak finished seventh overall at last year's Olympic Games, while Great Britain's Katherine Copeland is the 2012 Olympic Champion in this boat class and she continues the partnership she began in 2015 with Charlotte Booth (nee Taylor).

Look out too for the eight-place finishers from the Rio Olympics, Ionela-Liva Lehaci and Elena-Gianina Beleaga from Romania.

But the must-watch boat in Racice will be Ilse Paulis and Marieke Keijser of the Netherlands. Paulis is the Olympic Champion in this boat class and she has teamed up with under-23 Champion in the lightweight single, Keijser. This duo is sure to make a fast combination.

Men's four (M4-)

All of the crews that medalled at World Rowing Cup I in Belgrade are back. The gold-medal winners were Great Britain's Callum McBrierty, Matthew Tarrant, Mohamed Sbihi and William Satch and they will race again in the same line-up. Sbihi was part of the 2016 Olympic Champion crew in this boat class.

The Netherlands will send the boat that raced to silver in Belgrade. Three of the four members finished fifth in the four in Rio, with Jasper Tissen now replacing Peter Van Schie. The Spanish crew won bronze at World Rowing Cup I and they will send the same line-up to Racice with the aim to reach the podium once again.

Watch out for the Italians. Olympic bronze medallists in this boat class in 2016, they will be racing at the European Rowing Championships with two of the same athletes that competed in Rio: Domenico Montrone and Matteo Castaldo. Joining them are Giovanni Abagnale and Marco Di Costanzo, also Olympic bronze medallists from last year, but in the men's pair.

Lightweight men's four (LM4-)

Four nations have entered, with the Czech Republic, Hungary, Italy and Russia lining up. Italian rower Martino Goretti will be contributing with his experience from Rio, where he finished fourth in this boat class. Goretti has been joined by a new crew. Piero Sfiligoi is the current under-23 World Champion in this boat class while Matteo Pinca has a World Championship silver medal from 2012 in the lightweight men's eight.

Two members of the Czech boat, Jiri Kopac and Jan Vetesnik, were part of the crew that finished 12th overall at the 2016 Olympic Rowing Regatta and they raced at World Rowing Cup I in the open men's four. They finished tenth overall.

The athletes in the Russian boat also raced in the open men's four at 2017 World Rowing Cup I, where they finished seventh overall. Two members of the Hungarian boat finished fourth at World Rowing Cup I in the lightweight men's pair: David Forrai and Roland Sziget.

Women's quadruple sculls (W4x)

All three crews that medalled at World Rowing Cup I in Belgrade will meet again. Poland, who won gold, will see one change to its line-up compared to Belgrade with Joanna Hentka replacing Marta Wieliczko. Two members of the Polish crew, Agnieszka Kobus and Maria Springwald, raced to Olympic bronze last year.

The Dutch silver medallists in Belgrade will send the same crew to Racice. Two of its members, Inge Janssen and Nicole Beukers, were part of the boat that won Olympic silver in Rio last year.

Bronze medallists in Belgrade, Great Britain will send the same crew to the European Rowing Championships. Their line-up includes under-23 World Champions in the double Mathilda Hodgkins-Byrne and Jessica Leyden as well as Bethany Bryan (an under-23 world bronze medallist in the eight) and Holly Nixon (2016 World Champion in the women's four).

Look out too for the Ukrainians who finished fourth last year at the Olympic Rowing Regatta. There will be just one change to their boat: Diana Serebrianska replaces Ievgeniia Nimchenko.

Men's quadruple sculls (M4x)

The Lithuanian boat that won gold in Belgrade will race again in Racice, with one change to their line-up: Mindaugas Griskonis will replace Martynas Dziaugys who takes Griskonis's place in the men's double sculls.

As is the case early in the season, different combinations in crews are tried out. This sees two of the Polish scullers who won silver at World Rowing Cup I come together with two new teammates: Dominik Czaja and Adam Wicenciak replace Mateusz Biskup and Miroslaw Zietarski.

Great Britain entered two boats this boat class in Belgrade and they have retained the crew that won bronze, with just one change to their line-up: Peter Lambert replaces Thomas Barras. Lambert and Jack Beaumont were part of the Olympic boat that finished fifth in Rio last year.

Look out too for the Italians who are sending half of their under-23 world bronze medallist crew with Giacomo Gentili and Emanuele Fiume. They will be joined by 2012 Olympic silver medallist Romano Battisti and Andrea Panizza, a Junior World Champion from 2016 in the men's coxed four.

Men's double sculls (M2x)

The Lithuanians are the 2016 Olympic silver medallists in this event and at World Rowing Cup I they won gold. In Racice, Mindaugas Griskonis will be replaced by Martynas Dziaugys who won gold in Belgrade in the men's quadruple sculls.

The Swiss crew of Barnabe Delarze and Roman Roeoesli who won silver in Belgrade will race again and look to do just as well or better at the European level. Poland will send a different combination from the one that won bronze at World Rowing Cup I.

The fifth and sixth placed crews from World Rowing Cup I, Belarus and Bulgaria respectively, will line up again with the same athletes, while Great Britain will race for the first time in the double this season with a new-look crew consisting of Thomas Barras, who won bronze in the quad in Belgrade, and Frazier Christie.

Also lining up will be the Swiss boat that finished fourth, with Pascale Walker and Andrea Fuerholz.

But look out especially for the arrival of the Greek duo - Aikaterini Nikolaidou and Sofia Asoumanaki. These athletes have won multiple World Championship medals and together finished fourth in Rio last year. Asoumanaki is also an indoor rowing World Record holder in the 17-18 age category.

Men's single sculls (M1x)

Swiss sculler Nico Stahlberg surprised the field at World Rowing Cup I when he beat Olympic silver medallist and reigning European Champion Damir Martin from Croatia by 42 hundredths of a second to win gold. Both athletes will meet again in Racice. This time they will be joined by multi Olympic and World medallist from the Czech Republic Ondrej Synek. A multi European Champion, Synek will want to impress in front of a home crowd as he makes his first appearance this season.

Look out too for Stanislau Shcharbachenia from Belarus who finished fifth at last year's Olympic Rowing Regatta and also earlier this month at World Rowing Cup I.

Women's single sculls (W1x)

All three medallists from World Rowing Cup I in Belgrade will race in Racice: gold medallist from Switzerland Jeannine Gmelin, silver medallist from Great Britain Victoria Thornley, and bronze medallist from Austria Magdalena Lobnig. Are these the new top scullers in the single?

Two other World Cup A-finalists from Belgrade will also be racing again: rowing's most medalled rower Belarus's Ekaterina Karsten, 45, who finished fourth, and Sanita Puspure of Ireland who finished fifth.

Watch out too for Denmark's Fie Udby Erichsen who won Olympic silver in 2012 and then was ninth in Rio.

Men's eight (M8+)

Earlier this month The Netherlands caused quite a stir when they sent a club boat to World Rowing Cup I in Belgrade and beat the Olympic Champions, Great Britain to take gold. This result must have given the Dutch a huge confidence boost and sent the British back to the drawing board. For Racice the Netherlands are sending their national team eight which includes just one athlete from World Cup I, Ruben Knab, and then five of the athletes that were part of the Rio Olympic bronze medal crew.

The British are almost completely holding on to their Belgrade boat. Coach Juergen Grobler has made just one change to the line up – Tom Jeffery replaces Timothy Clarke.

The Russian and Polish boats, third and fourth finishers in Belgrade, remain the same.

Women's eight (W8+)

The statistics show that Great Britain must be the favourites. They are the reigning European Champions and they won silver at the 2016 Olympic Rowing Regatta. But with this new season, the British has sent an entirely new line-up to Racice.

The Romanians, who won Olympic bronze in Rio last year, have retained five of the members from their Olympic boat, including coxswain Daniela Drucea.

The Netherlands were also A-finalists in Rio and took silver at the European Championships last year. They will send a boat containing four athletes that raced at the Olympic Regatta, also including their coxswain Ae-Ri Noort.

Filippi Spirit Award

The Filippi Spirit Award encapsulates rowing's core values – teamwork, fairness, natural, inclusive and enduring – and recognises the achievements of our next generation of rowers. It is open to university rowers worldwide and awarded to the rower that best demonstrates the core values of rowing in his/her social, academic and sporting life.

This is the fifth year of the award with Filippi Boats the main sponsor since 2016.

Filippi has been involved in the award since its inception with the winner's university rowing club receiving a custom-built, top-of-the-range Filippi eight racing shell. The boat recognises the winner's involvement in the club and helps the club to develop more young rowers in the future.

A call for nominations for the 2017 Filippi Spirit Award will open in September 2017 and go through to the start of November. To qualify, the applicants must have attended university in the 2017 year.

Filippi Lido S.R.L. (also known as Filippi Boats) is a rowing racing boat manufacturer based in Donorotico, Italy. Since 1980 Filippi has produced top Olympic-class rowing boats.

Previous winners:

2016 Nils Jakob Hoff
Medical student at the University of Bergen, Norway and Olympic rower.

2015 Kirsten Van Fossen
American PhD student studying engineering at the University of Cambridge, GBR.

2014 Franz Gravenhourst
German national team rower and PhD student at Swiss Institute of Technology in Zurich, SUI.

2013 James Cook
British student-athlete studying mechanical engineering at the University College of London.
